UNIFORMED PROTECTIVE SERVICES

Teaching staff

Mr Potter

Overview

We will help you to prepare psychologically, physically and academically for a career within our distinguished Uniformed Protective Services.

Whether it is our emergency services, armed forces or an additional service you are seeking to join, you will gain hands-on experience from experienced teachers and current serving officers. You will get the chance to visit different sectors as well as speak with ex-students who are currently in their dream role in their chosen service.

Lessons

Lessons will often have a topical theme that relates the course content to issues that are happening in society at that moment.

Students can also look forward to lessons that include guest speakers from the RAF, Army and Police.

Support

News articles, websites and reports are all available to students via MS Teams. Outlines of the units and deadlines for assessments are all at your fingertips and staff are always available in college to help with assessments and to support students via email.

Outside the classroom

Students in the past have had the opportunity to go to London to visit the Old Bailey, the Houses of Parliament and Buckingham Palace.

Equipment that you will need

Basic stationery: pens, pencils, a notepad and a lever arch file. Outdoor, active clothing. Keeping up-to-date with current affairs, crime and politics will be beneficial.

I enjoy studying Public Services because I want to go into a job in Public Services, which is policing.

On this course, we have studied everything from crime and its effects on society to different leadership styles and qualities.

It is always fabulous to see students have careers in either the Blue light services or the armed forces.

Year 12 students recently had a talk from ex-student, Lee Davies, who is now a Flight Lieutenant in the RAF
